EXCELON TILE (Vinyl-Asbestos)

Excelon Tile is representative of today's most widely used resilient flooring material for all grade levels in schools, offices, shopping plazas, and similar public and commercial buildings. Specially formulated of vinyl resins fortified with asbestos fibers, it is an economical flooring, yet its many practical advantages include durability and resistance to grease, alkali, and dilute chemicals.

EXCELON FEATURE TILE

The solid-colored tiles shown in the right-hand column on this page have been created expressly for use as accent spots with other 1/8" gauge Excelon stylings. They are not recommended for an entire flooring field because, like plain-colored floors of any composition, they tend to show scratches and soiling more readily than patterned materials.

EXCELON FEATURE STRIPS

All colors in Excelon Feature Tile are also available in Feature Strips (1", 2", and 3" wide x 24" long) for accents in custom floor design. Feature Strip colors should be specified by changing the first two digits from 56 in the Feature Tile Series (56)790 to 50 for Feature Strips (50)790.
